CHAPTER 14 CONCLUSION

We were able to successfully complete the design and fabrication of the Air Driven Engine. By doing this project we gained the knowledge about pneumatic system and how automation can be effectively done with the help of pneumatic system. We were also able to gain practical knowledge about the basics of the normal IC engine and solenoid valves.

The Air Driven Engine provides an effective method for power production and transmission. Even though its applications are limited currently, further research could provide wider applications.
